Where the employee is an agency head, the term agency head will be taken to be the agency head’s direct report as stated in the employee’s Employment Agreement.

Variations applying to individual agencies are set out in Schedule 2, as amended from time to time.

2. Types of employment

Employment is on a full time, part time or casual basis. The employee shall be provided with an Employment Agreement and letter of appointment (refer Schedules 3 and 4 for full or part time Agreement and sample letter) or letter of appointment (refer Schedule 5 for sample casual letter of offer and Schedule 6 for sample letter of acceptance) specifying the basis of employment.

Casual employees work on an irregular basis and are paid wages expressed as an hourly rate. They do not have regular fixed hours of employment and have no expectation of ongoing or further employment. 4. Salaries and wages

Salaries and wages will be reviewed and may be increased annually by the Business Manager having regard to wage movements.

Salaries and wages may be reviewed and may be increased at other times by the Business Manager where there has been a significant shift in work value, assessed capability of the employee or where retention is at issue.

Part time and full time employees shall be paid an Annual Leave loading of 17.5% at the time of their taking leave in respect to leave accrued on and after 1 January 2005.

Annual leave loading shall not apply to a payment made for unused accrued leave upon termination of employment.

Salary packaging is available in accordance with the Archdiocese's "Salary Packaging Guidelines"

Employees not engaged in salary packaging, salary or 'super choice' will be paid fortnightly directly into a nominated bank account.

Employees engaged in salary packaging or 'super choice' will be paid monthly into a nominated bank account. Full or part time employees not engaged in salary packaging may choose to be paid monthly. Monthly paid employees who either commence after the first working day of a calendar month or leave before the end of a calendar month, will be paid 1/1976th of their annual salary for each paid hour (on scheduled working days) of any part completed month (or pro rata for a part time employee).

Salaries and wages will not be paid in advance of the scheduled payroll dates.

Employees employed prior to 31 December 2004 have the choice of receiving Payment Advices via email or hard copy.

Employees employed after that date will be provided with Payment Advices via email, except where by nature of the employee's role and duties, the employer does not provide an in house email facility.

5. Superannuation

The employer will make occupational superannuation contributions at the rate of 9% as per the Superannuation Guarantee Act 1992 into the National Catholic Superannuation Fund.

In the alternative, the employer will make occupational superannuation contributions to a complying fund chosen by the employee at the rate of 9% as per the Superannuation Guarantee Act 1992 provided payments can be made by electronic funds transfer, the fund is a public offer fund and the employee is prepared to be paid monthly ('super choice'). The Catholic Superannuation Fund will be treated as an exception to the requirement that superannuation be paid monthly, provided that the employee was a member of that fund prior to:

- (a) 31 December 2004; or
- (b) his or her employment under the Catholic Archdiocese of Melbourne Conditions of Employment for Non Executive Employees 2005.

6. Times of Employment

Except where otherwise determined by the agency head and the Business Manager having regard to the needs of the agency or the position or the employee the following shall apply.

Availability

Unless otherwise agreed between the employer and the employee, a full time employee is required to be available for work between 9.00am and 4.00pm from Monday to Friday (core hours). The balance of hours is to be worked between 8.00am and 9.00am and between 4.00pm and 6.00pm from Monday to Friday (span of hours) as determined by the agency head and where possible with agreement with the employee. The agency head will notify the Human Resources Office of an agreement to vary the standard arrangements.

Part time employees are required to be available for work at such times as are agreed. The agency heads will determine on a case by case basis the core and span of hours provided it is consistent with that applying to full time employees in their agency and all employees are treated fairly. The agency head will notify the Human Resources Office of the agreed arrangements. The agency head will notify the Human Resources Office of the agreed arrangements.

Casual employees are required to be available for work at such times as are agreed.

Employees are entitled to a half hour meal break on each day that they work at least five hours. The duration of the meal break may vary by agreement and is to be taken between 12.00pm and 2.00pm. The meal break is unpaid.

An employee may be required to undertake duties outside normal working hours.

Time in lieu

To accord with the need for proper rest, full and part time employees are entitled to time off in lieu if they work more than their contracted hours of work in a fortnight or if they work on a public holiday. Time in lieu shall be calculated on a time for time basis for additional hours worked.

Time in lieu is to be approved by the agency head in advance and is to be taken as follows:

- During the Christmas shutdown (where applicable).
- Time in lieu not anticipated to be exhausted during this period shall be taken within four weeks following its accrual.

It is not intended that this provision will result in regular days off. A regular pattern of employees working their agreed hours per fortnight is expected and negative balances are to be avoided

Overtime

Overtime may be paid to a full or part time employee as follows:

- The employee has or anticipates sufficient time in lieu to cover the Christmas shutdown (where applicable).
- For full time employees, the time worked is in excess of 3 hours and commences after the end of core hours (6.00pm or an evening, unless otherwise determined) or on a weekend (unless a scheduled day of work) or public holiday.
- For part time employees, the time worked is in excess of 1 hour (up to 76 hours per fortnight) or in excess of 3 hours thereafter and commences outside of agreed core hours or on a weekend (unless a scheduled day of work) or public holiday.

- After the employee has either worked or taken leave equal to their agreed number of working hours in that fortnight.
- It is available only when approved in advance by the agency head.
- The rate of pay will be equivalent to the ordinary rate of pay.

Overtime is not to be considered a normal feature in most agencies and time in lieu arrangements are preferred.

7. Annual Leave

Full time and part time employees are entitled to 2 hours of paid annual leave for each of their agreed fortnightly hours of employment for each twelve months of continuous service ie full time employees are entitled to 152 hours ($76 \times 2 = 152$ hours or 4 weeks) of paid annual leave for each twelve months of continuous service.

Annual leave is allocated on a pay cycle basis and can be taken as it accrues. It is cumulative. Given the need for proper rest, full and part time employees must not accrue annual leave in excess of two times their annual entitlement (for full time employees this would be 304 hours) without the express approval of the agency head. Employees must not accrue annual leave in excess of two and one half times their annual allocation (for full time employees this would be 380 hours) without the express approval of the agency head and the Business Manager.

Where salary packaging arrangements have been agreed to with the employee, those arrangements will continue to apply during periods where leave is taken. If a payment is made for unused accrued leave upon termination, the rate of pay used in calculating that payment will include the cash equivalent to the employee of salary packaging arrangements. Superannuation contributions will be made with respect to payments for leave which is taken, but not with respect to payments made in lieu of unused accrued leave upon termination of employment.

If an employee has accrued annual leave in excess of the limits stated above, the Business Manager may direct the employee to take his/her annual leave, provided that at least four weeks notice is given to the employee.

Casual employees are not entitled to paid annual leave.

8. Personal Leave

Full time and part time employees are entitled to one hour of paid personal leave for each of their agreed fortnightly hours of employment for each twelve months of continuous service ie full time employees are entitled to 76 hours of paid personal leave ($1 \times 76 = 76$ hours or 2 weeks) for each twelve months of continuous service.

Personal leave is allocated on a pay cycle basis as it accrues. This method has been adopted instead of a grant at each anniversary date as that method is cumbersome to administer for employees whose agreed hours fluctuate over a period of time. To ensure that employees are not disadvantaged by the accrual method, they may access their anticipated personal leave accruals to their next anniversary date, at any time.

Personal leave is cumulative.

The personal leave entitlement is primarily available to cover personal illness.

The personal leave entitlement is also available to cover the care of others. Employees are entitled to use up to half of their annual entitlement hours in any one year to care for family members or members of their immediate household who are ill and need their care. For full time employees this would be 38 hours (5 days).

Family members include but are not limited to the spouse of the employee, children, parents, grandparents, grandchildren, brothers and sisters, and parents in law and grandparents in law of the employee.

For full time employees, a medical certificate is required for absences in excess of 22.8 consecutive hours (3 days). If leave is taken for the care of others the medical certificate must state that the person who is ill requires care. For part time employees, the agency heads will determine on a case by case basis the duration of absence beyond which he or she will require a medical certificate, provided it is consistent with that applying to full time employees and all employees are treated fairly.

A medical certificate is required for full and part time employees where the single incident absences are greater than half of their annual entitlement hours in any one year. For full time employees this would be 38 hours.

The limits apply to calendar years not anniversary years.

Casual employees are not entitled to paid personal leave.

Unused personal leave is not payable on termination.

9. Long Service Leave

Long service leave accrues at the rate of 1 hour for every forty hours of continuous service and may be taken after ten years and the yearly accrual every year thereafter.

For full and part time employees, payment during the period of leave and payment in lieu on termination of employment shall be made on the following basis:

- For those whose service has been at the same number of employment hours per fortnight over the entitlement period, the payment is made at the same number of employment hours per fortnight over the leave period.

- For those whose service has been at a variety of employment hours per fortnight over the entitlement period, the payment is made on the average employment hours per fortnight over the leave period or at the number of employment hours per fortnight immediately prior to the taking of the leave, whichever is the greater.
- The rate of pay used is the current hourly rate of pay.

For casual employees, payment during the period of leave and payment in lieu on termination shall be based on the average of their employment hours per fortnight over the preceding twelve month period.

Where salary packaging arrangements have been agreed to with the employee, those arrangements will continue to apply during periods where leave is taken. If a payment is made for unused accrued leave upon termination, the rate of pay used in calculating that payment will include the cash equivalent to the employee of salary packaging arrangements. Superannuation contributions will be made with respect to payments for leave which is taken, but not with respect to payments made in lieu of unused accrued leave upon termination of employment.

Employees are requested to give six weeks' notice of their intention to take long service leave. This assists with planning and organisation of work for the period that the employee is on leave.

Given the need for proper rest, employees are encouraged to take long service leave and to keep their balance at or below the allocation they received after ten years of service, unless otherwise agreed with agency head.

The rules for the portability of long service leave accruals across parishes and agencies of the Archdiocese of Melbourne are detailed in the Archdiocese's policy on "Portability of Long Service leave" as amended from time to time.

10. Bereavement Leave

Full time and part time employees are entitled to 0.3 hours of paid bereavement leave for each of their agreed fortnightly hours of employment on the death of a family member ie full time employees are entitled to 22.8 hours (76 x 0.3 = 22.8 hours or 3 days) of paid leave.

Family members include but are not limited to the spouse of the employee, children, parents, grandparents, grandchildren, brothers and sisters, and parents in law and grandparents in law of the employee.

Casual employees are not entitled to paid bereavement leave.

11. Parental Leave

Parental leave (unpaid maternity, paternity and adoption leave) is available to both part time and full time employees who have served a minimum of twelve months continuous service prior to the commencement of the leave. Both natural and adoptive parents are entitled to 52 weeks unpaid leave to provide primary care for the child.

Agency heads are to assist employees in meeting their family needs by being flexible in facilitating leave and return to work arrangements, including a temporary or permanent transfer to part time duties or the granting of Additional Leave.

Employees will be entitled to return to their position of employment prior to taking such leave or to a comparable position if this is no longer available.

12. Additional Leave

A full or part time employee may, with the agreement of the agency head, work between 44 and 52 weeks per year, and is approved on a calendar year basis at the commencement of the year. The employee will receive the following additional leave, which must be taken before the end of the January following the calendar year it, falls due.

44/52 weeks model	Additional 8 weeks' leave	(12 weeks in total)
45/52 weeks model	Additional 7 weeks' leave	(11 weeks in total)
46/52 weeks model	Additional 6 weeks' leave	(10 weeks in total)
47/52 weeks model	Additional 5 weeks' leave	(9 weeks in total)
48/52 weeks model	Additional 4 weeks' leave	(8 weeks in total)
49/52 weeks model	Additional 3 weeks' leave	(7 weeks in total)
50/52 weeks model	Additional 2 weeks' leave	(6 weeks in total)
51/52 weeks model	Additional 1 weeks' leave	(5 weeks in total)

The employee will receive a salary equal to the period worked which will be spread over the calendar year.

“Weeks’ leave” means one quarter of an employee’s annual leave entitlement.

Accrual of leave entitlements remains unchanged from that applying to employees working a 52 week year.

This provision may be made a precondition for employment in new or vacant positions and not subject to change without agreement of both the agency head and the employee.

13. Study Leave

Full time employees may apply for paid study leave of up to 150 hours each year for courses approved by the Business Manager.

Part time employees may apply for paid study leave on a proportionate basis. Study leave is approved by the agency head on an annual basis.

Casual employees are not eligible for paid study leave.

14. Jury Service

Employees required to attend for jury service shall be reimbursed by the Archdiocese an amount equal to the difference between the amount paid in respect of their attendance for such jury service, and the amount of salary normally received. An employee shall notify their agency head as soon as possible of the date required to attend jury service.

15. Accident Make Up Pay

An employee whose absence entitles them to payments under the Accident Compensation Act shall be entitled to accident make up pay for a period not exceeding 26 weeks.

16. Leave Without Pay

An employee may apply for leave without pay which may be granted at the agency head's discretion.

Unpaid leave of any nature for a period greater than three months is not counted as continuous service for the purpose of leave entitlements. While employees on unpaid leave for a period greater than three months do not accrue annual, personal and long service leave, their entitlements are not decreased and are reactivated upon their return to work.

An employee who is granted extended leave without pay, ie leave in excess of nine months' duration shall inform their agency head at least two months from the conclusion of the leave if they do not plan to return to work.

17. Reimbursement of expenses

Employees are entitled to reimbursement of reasonable expenses that they incur in the course of their employment. The rates payable in respect of private motor vehicle usage shall be the rates determined by the Australian Taxation Office from time to time. The Human Resources Manager of the Catholic Archdiocese of Melbourne shall monitor variations of the rates and inform agency heads of variations as soon as practical. Travel expenses do not include normal travel to and from work and that distance is to be discounted from any claims for reimbursement, except where the travel occurs on a non working day.

Employees are to submit claims for reimbursement with supporting evidence of the expenses as required by the appropriate Tax Ruling. The reasonable limits as set out in TR 2003/7 shall, unless otherwise approved by the Business Manager, represent the maximum payments available for the 2003/04 financial year and until such time as it is withdrawn and substituted. The Human Resources Manager of the Catholic Archdiocese of Melbourne shall monitor the Tax rulings and inform agency heads of changes as soon as practical.

18. Performance Review

Performance discussions between the agency head and employee are encouraged on a regular basis. The agency head will provide each employee with a formal review each year to coincide with annual salary movements.

19. Criminal Records Checks

In accordance with the Archdiocese's policy on "Criminal Records Checks", a criminal records check is compulsory for every;

- new employee, including a casual,
- current employee being promoted or appointed to a position of leadership and,
- current maximum term employees having their term extended.

Before commencement of employment, employees must complete a statutory declaration that he/she does not have any convictions, findings of guilt and/or pending charges (except for minor traffic offences) in Victoria, any other state or territory of Australia or under Commonwealth law or any other jurisdiction.

20. Confidentiality

The employee must not divulge to any person or body any financial business or confidential information concerning the Archdiocese or any individual within or related to the Archdiocese except in the proper course of their duties.

The employee has a duty of confidentiality to the organisation not to misuse or disclose confidential information acquired during the course of employment. This duty continues after the employee has ceased employment with the Archdiocese

21. Intellectual Property

Any of the following created during and in the course of an employee's engagement with the employer, during their ordinary working hours, is the property of the employer:

- all inventions, discoveries and novel designs ("Inventions"),
- the entire copyright throughout the world in all literary works and other copyright works ("Works"), and
- any business name, brand name or trade mark ("Marks").

The employer may reproduce, publish, use or adapt the above or alter, change or use them:

- with or without attribution of authorship,
- with or without any other materials comprising copyright,

- with or without any other text, data, sounds or images,
- with no title, the same title or any other title,
- in any medium or context, and
- in any way that the employer sees fit.

The employee must disclose to the employer any Inventions, Works and Marks created during his or her engagement with the employer. The employee must not, except at the written direction of the employer, apply for registration of or in any way do anything to infringe upon, any Invention, Work or Mark of the employer.

During and after the employee's engagement with the employer, the employee must do all such acts and things and sign all such documents as the employer may reasonably request to secure to it ownership or registration rights in the Inventions, Works and Marks.

Moral Rights means, in relation to any copyright Works that the employee may author in the course of the employee's employment by the employer, the right of attribution, the right to prevent false attribution, and the right of integrity.

A condition of employment is that the employee voluntarily and unconditionally consents to all or any acts or omissions by the employer, or persons authorised by the employer, in relation to any and all Works made or to be made by the employee (whether before or after this consent is given) in the course of the employee's employment with the employer which would otherwise infringe the employee's Moral Rights in relation to any copyright Works.

22. Disclosure

Employees are required to disclose to their agency head of any situation that may give rise to either a real or perceived conflict of interest, or any matter that may put themselves or others at risk of injury or disease.

23. Termination of Employment

Either the employer or the employee may terminate his or her employment by providing four weeks' notice of termination or resignation in writing. The employer shall provide an employee over the age of 45 years with two years of continuous service an additional week's notice. The employer may make payment in lieu of notice.

Notwithstanding the previous paragraph, the employment of an employee who is serving a probationary period of employment may be terminated by the provision of two weeks' notice or payment in lieu of notice. The employer may make payment in lieu of notice.

Legislation requires that the employer have a valid reason for the termination of employment and ensure procedural fairness to the employee.

The employer may terminate an employee's employment if the employee displays conduct in either his/her private or public life that is contrary to the teachings of the Roman Catholic Church. In such an event, the employee will be provided with notice, or payment in lieu of notice as detailed above.

Any major inaccuracy or other serious deficiency in an applicant's statement (oral or written) about their qualifications, experience or other matters of consequence raised at the selection renders that applicant ineligible for a position on the staff of an organisation under the jurisdiction of the Archdiocese of Melbourne, or if already employed, renders the employee liable to dismissal, for serious misrepresentations. In such an event, the employee will be provided with notice, or payment in lieu of notice as detailed above

The employer may terminate an employee's employment for serious misconduct of the employee. In such an event, the employer need not provide the employee with notice of termination or payment in lieu of notice.

24. Termination - Redundancy

Where an employer has made a definite decision that the job the employee has been doing should no longer be done by anyone, and this is not due to the ordinary and customary turnover of labour, and that decision may lead to termination of employment, the employer shall hold discussion with the employee directly affected to cover the reasons for the proposed termination and to mitigate as far as practicable any adverse effects of the termination on the employee. The employer must also provide, in writing, reasons for the employee's redundancy.

In addition to the period of notice prescribed for ordinary termination an employee who is made redundant shall be entitled to the following manner of severance pay in respect of a period of continuous service.

Period of continuous service	Severance Pay
Less than 1 year	Nil
1 year but less than 2	4 weeks' pay
2 years but less than 3	6 weeks' pay
3 years but less than 4	7 weeks' pay
4 years but less than 5	8 weeks' pay
5 years but less than 6 years	10 weeks' pay
6 years but less than 7 years	11 weeks' pay
7 years but less than 8 years	13 weeks' pay
8 years but less than 9 years	14 weeks' pay
9 years but less than 10 years	16 weeks' pay
10 years and over	12 weeks' pay

“Weeks' pay” means $\frac{5}{260}$ ^{ths} of an employee's annual salary.

During the period of notice of termination given by the employer, a full time employee shall be allowed up to 7.6 hours off without loss of pay during each week of notice for the purpose of seeking other employment. For part time employees a proportional amount of time off will be provided.

These provisions shall not apply in any of the following cases:

- Where continuous employment has been for a period of less than one year.
- Where employment is terminated as a consequence of conduct that justifies dismissal.
- Upon the expiry of a contract for which a full or part time employee was engaged.
- Upon the expiry of a specific period of time or completion of a specific task or tasks for which a casual employee was engaged.

25. Abandonment of Employment

Employees who are absent from the workplace for three consecutive scheduled working days, without notifying their reasons for absence will be contacted by the employer. The employer must first send a letter to the employee advising that his/her absence is unauthorised, that his/her failure to return within a specified period may automatically terminate his/her employment and that the termination of employment will have been at his/her initiative.

Employees have an obligation to ensure that the employer has an up to date records of his or her address and contact numbers.

26. Grievance / Dispute Resolution

Any disputes or grievances arising out of the employment relationship should be resolved between the agency head and the employee. In the event that the agency head and the employee are unable to resolve the dispute at local level, the dispute or grievance will be referred to the Human Resources Manager of the Catholic Archdiocese of Melbourne for advice on resolution. If the dispute or grievance cannot be resolved in this way, it will be referred to a local Ordinary or his representative in the Archdiocese.

27. Implementation

The Human Resources Manager of the Catholic Archdiocese of Melbourne shall administer the “Catholic Archdiocese of Melbourne Conditions of Employment for non executive employees 2005” and will review them before 31 December 2007.

Where the rates of pay or conditions prescribed for the Personal and Other Services Industry Sector, pursuant to Schedule 1a of the Workplace Relations Act (Cth), or any Award or other industrial instrument the Archdiocese or its agencies may be party to, or other Commonwealth and Victorian legislation provide more generous outcomes than that identified in these “Catholic Archdiocese of Melbourne Conditions of Employment for non executive employees 2005” or the employee’s Employment Agreement or letter of offer, the provision of the legislation or industrial instrument shall apply.

Any part of an employee's remuneration which is in excess of an amount owing under any law or award may be applied to satisfy any other entitlement under that law or award within the relevant year.

Benefits accrued by an employee shall be portable from one Archdiocesan agency to another, provided that employment is continuous. The agencies between which benefits are portable are those subscribing to these conditions of employment.

Dear «Name 2»

I am pleased to offer you casual employment «Position».

The position attracts an hourly rate of «Rate_of_pay» and has no entitlement to paid annual leave or sick leave.

You will need to complete a timesheet for each fortnight and return it through your supervisor to Rod Parker, our Payroll Officer by the start of Monday of the pay week (the next payday is «next_pay_day»). You will need to complete the attached forms before payments can be made.

The practice of the Archdiocese of Melbourne is to require a criminal records check to be completed for all staff before commencing work. This may not be possible in your case. A criminal records check may be initiated but not completed. Consequently, our offer of employment is conditional upon your declaring that you have not been charged with nor found guilty of any offence which would be incompatible with your position of trust and responsibility. A declaration to this effect forms part of the acceptance of offer and together with the application for a criminal records check must be completed before you commence employment. If for any reason you are unable to complete the statutory declaration as requested, you should contact me immediately.

I take this opportunity to congratulate you on this appointment and hope that you find the role both challenging and enjoyable.

Yours sincerely
